

100th Edition!

It's hard to believe, but this is the 100th Edition of Links News in this format. Looking back to Issue 1 on 10th September 2010 we've come a long way and made many changes at Amble Links and continue to look forward to making even more improvements to our school in the future. We hope you always find the weekly newsletter useful and informative. Used alongside our Facebook page and school website we hope that you always feel up to date about what is going on in school and about events that are coming up in the future. Thank you for your ongoing support.

Improving Your Children's Reading

The summer term at school is always extremely busy with special events for the children. It is also another really critical term for their learning before we make end of year assessments which are detailed on their reports. One of the very best ways that we believe parents can help their children improve in their learning is by reading at home with them on a very regular basis. When children read with us at school they are asked lots of questions about what they are reading, asked to make predictions and talk about their feelings towards characters in their books amongst very many other things! Through our assessments we can see that children who do read at home on a regular basis tend to make much quicker progress with their learning. Please help us by reading at home with your children on a regular basis and making a comment in their reading record. It really does make a difference!
